2. Reasons for the revisions

The sales forecast has been adjusted downward due to a delay in projected sales to the second half of the fiscal year under review. However, profits are exceeding the initial forecast, attributable to our efforts for exacting and comprehensive project management and profit improvement resulting from cost cutting for projects in all sectors.

We have not revised the full-year earnings forecast because growing uncertainty remains toward the second half of the year. In light of market trends going forward, we will promptly announce changes in the forecast, if any.

*Disclaimer

The above forecast values are our projections based on information available at the time of this release and contain various uncertainties. Actual results may differ materially from forecast values due to factors such as changes in the business performance of the Company.
